Forestry & Natural Resources Program

We are hiring!

Be part of our team...

Make a meaningful difference in Oregon's communities. OSU Forestry & Natural Resources Extension is recruiting an energetic, creative, and collaborative individual committed to sustaining natural resources and strengthening communities and economies. Our team fosters and operates within a strong workplace culture of collaborative planning, group projects, and mutual support. We share a commitment to promote and enhance diversity and contribute to a welcoming, inclusive, and respectful work culture.

Have an impact...

- ◆ Share practical, locally-relevant, science-based information to improve people's lives, livelihoods, and the environment.
- ◆ Empower woodland owners through educational programming, networking, and collaboration with community partners and volunteers.
- ◆ Provide rich and inclusive learning opportunities offered in non-formal education settings.

Now recruiting for...

A program coordinator position for the Master Woodland Manager Program (MWM) and the Women Owning Woodlands Network (MWM). This is a full-time 1.00 FTE, 12-month, professional faculty position. The job location is flexible within Oregon.
