

STREAM ECOLOGY FIELD POSITIONS OPEN

The Warren Lab at Oregon State University is seeking student field technicians for Summer 2021!

The work will be part of an ongoing project assessing alternative riparian buffers on managed landscapes.

Students will receive hands-on research experience in sampling aquatic food webs, as well as field experience working in remote settings in a small crew.

More information and instructions to apply at <https://jobs.oregonstate.edu/postings/98056>.

For full consideration, please apply by March 15.
